Hopes of Paved Kananaskis Road Expressed At Opening

Although this bridge is not on the new Kananaskis Road it is in that area. This picture shows only one type of the many beautiful scenes offered those travelling the road.

"The trunk road between the Crows Nest Valley and the Bow Valley has been built as a tourist road not merely a forestry road. A little more attention has been paid to curves and grades for this reason, and the road would not have to be altered much should it be taken over by the Provincial government. It is hoped that someday the government might take over this road and pave it". Such were the remarks of Major General Howard Kennedy, chairman of the Eastern Rockies Forest Conservation Board at the official opening of the Kananaskis road at Cataract Creek last Tuesday.

Mr. Kennedy also remarked that this road is only one link of a system that will extend from the Crows Nest Pass to the Brazeau River west of Red Deer. Tote roads and roads leading to communities to the east are not as well constructed but will serve the needs of the forestry department. It is a joint Dominion-Provincial project with conservation of water as the prime objective.

In closing his remarks, Mr. Kennedy paid tribute to the engineers and staff that worked on the project, then called upon

N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Forests and Hon. R. H. Winters, Minister of Resources and Development to officially open the road.

Due to the fact that the project was a joint one, a double ribbon ceremony was held with both ministers cutting ribbons.

The Hon. Mr. Winters expressed gratitude to those engaged in the road planning and construction and stated that the program it served was the greatest single conservation program in Canada and possibly the largest in the continent. Canada's natural resources he stated are the most serious problem facing Canadians today. This very project is vital to the west, Manitoba and Saskatchewan depending on waters from this watershed for their very economy. The area covered by the conservation project here includes the initial drainage systems of the North and South Saskatchewan Rivers.

Mr. Tanner followed the same line as the Federal minister, paying tribute to those who built the road and expressed the pleasure in harmonious relations that existed between the two governments. The project, he stated had its beginning in 1938 but was held up until 1947 by the outbreak of war.

Various representatives of both provincial and federal governments, forestry department, conservation board and others attended the ceremony along with a large turn out of Pass and Calgary citizens.

Prior to the ceremonies, the 200 odd citizens were entertained at a buffet style luncheon at the Cataract Creek Camp Shelter. Considerable time was allowed to permit the guests to roam around, view the scenery and become acquainted. A display was set up in the Camp Shelter giving stereoscopic views of the area and Mount Burke. A telescope mounted showed the lookout perched on Mount Burke at an elevation of 8,334 feet.

The Coleman party left the ranger station at approximately 10 a.m. Tuesday morning with Constable D. Farquharson, R.C.M.P. leading the convoy. C. R. Cornish, Chief engineer for the Eastern Rockies Board and Hon. N. E. Tanner followed in that order. W. Kovach, M.L.A., Mayor Abbotsford and various other Pass residents completed the convoy.

Social Credit Speakers Open Political Battles In Coleman

"Alberta is blessed with three babies, gas, oil and coal. If you had triplets you would see that you look after each of them... that is what we are doing" stated W. Kovach as he emphatically emphasized the position of the Social Credit government in its endeavours to treat all resources of the province equally and still permit progress."

Speaking at the first Coleman meeting of the current campaign Mr. Kovach told the gathering that they had put Alberta in the lead and asked them to keep it in the lead by returning his government to office. The basis of his address reviewed the work of the government and stressed the plans for the future.

"In spite of the large industrial development" he asserted "agriculture is still the basic industry. We are fortunate to have oil, but we should a little further realize how much the government had done before oil. Progress was made in every sphere, reducing the debt by 28 or 29 million dollars till the time of the first Leduc strike. We prospered not because of oil alone, but because of sound government."

From this point the speaker went on to outline the progress and plans for every department, emphasizing the highways expenditure which will be the highest in the history of the province and financed without borrowing money.

Speaking at the same meeting and in support of Mr. Kovach, was Hon. N. E. Tanner who expounded the principles of social credit and asserted that he was leaving the government as a stronger social credit than when he entered.

While touching the subject of oil, Mr. Tanner told his gathering to consider the position of the province as a whole. Coal is not the only resource. We must progress and some are going to suffer, yet they will contribute to the welfare of the entire province. Exportation of natural gas he stated would make available the various raw materials and encourage industry in the province. He went into detail on gross and net royalties showing that the provincial government was making a good profit for its people, and winning the respect of the oil companies for the fair treatment afforded them.

Basing the most of his remarks on government, the Minister explained the workings of Social Credit and asked the solution to the present set up of booms and busts, war and poverty, throwing the challenge to Liberals or Conservatives to give the answer. While enlightening his audience in this regard he touched on the creation of money for the purpose of fighting a war, by the use of bonds, explaining that bonds were a note to the banks to borrow money that did not exist, and that these bonds are held 70% by financial institutions, interest on which is still to be paid.

Alberta is the baby province with the exception of Newfoundland. From her founding in 1905 until 1935 we went in debt at the rate of 5 1/2 million a year until we had a debt of 187 million when Social Credit took over in 1936. There was a steady decrease for the next eleven years prior to the oil strike at Leduc, of 2 million a year, or a difference of 7 million per year. After the discovery of oil there was a reduction of 11 million per year. During the time prior to oil discovery, when Alberta was reducing her debt, B.C. with richer resources increased her debt by 40%.

This sounder policy in Alberta, he stated, was due to sound administration.

A question period following the meeting brought out replies to queries concerning old age pension and position of coal in the future.

A. Redford, Pincher Creek, president of the Social Credit Association served as chairman, the vote of thanks being tendered by L. Jones.

Crow Area Leads Coal Production For June

The Crows Nest Pass area proved the leader in coal production for the month of June according to the report issued by the Alberta Mines Department on Monday.

Alberta production was down for the month as compared with last year. The bituminous field led all others with 330,924 tons. Of this the Crow area produced 178,304 tons.

SCHOOL ADDITIONS POSTPONED UNTIL SPRING

The erection of a two room addition to Cameron school has been left until next spring due to the lateness of the season. Such was the decision of the Coleman school board at a recent special meeting.

Meech, Mitchell and Associates, architects of Lethbridge called for tenders awhile ago, and have since been asked by the board to withdraw tenders. The board left that as the rooms could not be ready for school opening in September, use be made of the High School Auditorium as a class room until next year.

Voters Go To Polls On August 5th

Five days of campaigning, facts and promises statements and counter statements remain. In five days the electors of Alberta will say who will form the next government.

The quietest campaign in years it has only come alive this past week. Social Credit speakers opened the campaign here with a meeting last week. Liberal speakers will appear here this week. Daily mails and radio broadcasts are adding interest daily. The major topic locally centres around coal and oil and the future of each.

Two candidates are before the public, W. Kovach, Social Credit and T. Costigan, Liberal.

Vote for the man of your choice but vote. The right to vote freely is ours by heritage others are fighting for it.

For the benefit of Journal readers the polling stations are listed below.

West Coleman Polling Subdivision 25, the territory west of Eastern Ave., voting place West Coleman School.

Centre Coleman, 26 and 26A, from the east side of Eastern Ave. to the west side of Mayfair Ave., voting place, Central School, Coleman.

East Coleman, 27, 27A and 27B, East side of Mayfair Ave. to the west boundary of section 10, voting place, Lombard Building, Coleman.

Prominent Pass Resident Passes

William Kerr, 73 well known and respected throughout the entire Pass area passed away in the C.N.P. Hospital last week. Funeral services were conducted from the family home in Bellevue Friday July 18, with burial in Blairmore Union cemetery.

An ardent sportsman, Mr. Kerr was born in Scotland 73 years ago, coming to Canada in the spring of 1903, settling first in Assiniboine, N.W.T. In 1906 he arrived by covered wagon to the Pass and began prospecting for coal in the Passburg area. Commencement of the Bellevue mine found him as mail carrier for Leech Collieries. His daily routine called for a trip by horseback to Frank for mail. In 1908 he opened a general store in Passburg operating it until 1939. In 1910 he went into partnership with his brother John, opening a store in Bellevue.

Active in community affairs, he was especially known for his curling, and was made an honorary life member of the Lethbridge Curling Club.

He is survived by four sisters in Scotland and a brother in Hamilton, Ontario.

New Kananaskis Highway Opens New Playground For Pass Residents

A typical scene found throughout the Crows Nest Forest Reserve

The new Kananaskis highway north of Coleman has opened up an entirely new playground area for the people of the Crows Nest Pass. Opening only a few weeks ago, the scenic highway has been traversed by hundreds of fishermen and campers.

The Forestry branch have taken into consideration the comfort of the traveler and erected four kitchens along the road, one each at Racehorse Creek, Dutch Creek, North West Branch and Livingstone Falls. Each kitchen is 16 by 36, of log construction, with cottage roof and partial walls. There are two stoves in each kitchen.

In addition to allowing the residents a new picnic spot, the road will offer a new route to Calgary and Banff. Mileage to Calgary will be in excess of thirty miles further than the other route, while the mileage to Banff will be approximately 100 miles shorter.

Leaving Coleman, the traveler will follow Pelletier Creek for awhile then follow Vicary as far as The Gap. Leaving the Gap as you follow the Livingstone to the summit. Entering the Bow River Forest Reserve you come to Highwood River, Pocaterra Creek and the Kananaskis river. Passing the beautiful Barrier Lakes you arrive at the Seebe Dam, cross it and come out on the Banff-Calgary highway, a distance of 136 miles from Coleman.

Highlights of the drive include winding up the valley of Pelletier Creek just after leaving Coleman. Proceeding still further north, the first summit (5,868 ft.) is reached at mile

7 and as you approach the 10 mile post a view of Vicary Valley appears, contrasting the dark green of mature 275 year old spruce with the light green of young lodgepole pine that has grown since the 1910 fire.

At mile 15 Thunder Mountain, 7,716 feet, is seen and from this point the motorist drives through grassy bottomlands, deeded land and solid stands of timber. The second summit, 6,548 is just past the 50 mile post, the road then winding down into the narrow and beautiful Wilkinson Creek Valley. At Cataract Creek, 69 miles, looking to the east you can see Cameron Lookout atop Mt. Burke. This lookout at 8,334 feet is the highest in Canada.

Leaving Cataract Creek going north, you are offered views of the Highwood Range, Mount Head (9,116) and Elk Mountain Range. The mountains at this point become more rugged and colorful in their appearance.

A little past the 90 mile point the road traverses a snow slide area. At this point a detour has been built to bypass slides which often block the way during June and July. A mile still further on is the highest summit, and the highest piece of engineered road in Canada, 7,239 feet.

Despite the fact that it is only a gravel road and does not offer any commercialized resting points along the way, the road is a wealth of scenic value and will be covered by more and more tourists as the weeks go by. For the lover of beauty and nature at its best, the 136 mile drive is a must.

Fire Department Competitions And Demonstrations Here Labor Day

Fire departments from various centres will gather in Coleman on Sept. 1 to pit their skill in hose coupling, while Blairmore and Coleman Brigades are expected to fight it out with hose and water. All these in addition to a demonstration in fighting an oil fire are offered to the Coleman public as an insight into fire department skills and a late summer entertainment.

Fire Chief Aldo Montalbetti states that the competitions are open to every brigade within a 100 mile radius of Coleman. Invitations have been sent out and every brigade supplied with a list of rules. It is hoped that the coupling competition will be held in the Coleman School grounds.

The Coleman brigade plan on giving a display of practical fire fighting and display the value of a fog nozzle in combating a fire of 500 to 600 gallons of oil that will be started in a pit north of the skating rink.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded the winners, and a social evening for the visiting departments will be held that night.

The latest issue of the Canadian Mineworker lists Mary Baruta, Donna Gentile, and Al-an Rypien, all of Coleman as honorable award winners in the June crayon contest.

ALL-GIRL PIPE BAND TOURS EUROPE—When the All-Girl Bagpipe Band from Iowa offered to render their interpretation of Scottish airs on Aberdeen streets, the city council rejected their offer and one of the council remarked the band probably consisted of a few "half-nude" girls playing "jazz or be-bop". The band has sailed from Montreal for Southampton and, whether Aberdeen likes it or not, they'll play—by invitation—at British, French, Holland and Swiss cities and towns. Drummer Wilma Waller shows the kilts which the girls will wear—and they hope they have opportunity to appear in Aberdeen.—Central Press Canadian.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

YOU PAY FOR IT USE IT

It's yours not mine. You pay for it so you may as well use it.

These honest and frank words were uttered recently by the manager of the Unemployment Insurance Office at Blairmore recently while he was speaking of the reluctance of Coleman people from using the service available.

A look into the matter showed that Coleman people and those from outside Blairmore seemed to feel that it was a Blairmore office and not for them.

A greater mistake could not be made. Unemployment Insurance and the National employment service are a Dominion project and rightly a service that the taxpayer himself is paying for. The mistaken idea that it is a Blairmore office only results in Blairmore getting the breaks. It is situated in Blairmore only because of the location of Blairmore, and is there to serve the entire Pass. A phone call or a visit will find the staff only to willing to assist you in your problem.

As the matter stands today Coleman's reluctance and Blairmore's willingness to use this service results in Blairmore getting the lions share of the services available, these services even extending beyond the usual employment problems.

Without the interest of Coleman people or a contact man appointed the situation results in loss of revenue for Coleman. Should some firm place an order for laborers or cat operators with the local office, it is only natural that officials will follow the path that gives the fastest service . . . this path being looking up someone in Blairmore for the job.

The management of the office reports that a contact man is available in Natal-Michel area and is often contacted to supply workers . . . this is done in an effort to see that all sections of the district are treated equally . . . this is a project that is desired for the Coleman area.

It is hoped that a contact might be available in Coleman or that the Coleman workers make better use of the service. Nearly one half a million dollars was dispensed by that office in the last year besides many jobs filled. A greater portion of these coming to Coleman and will be Colemans, but only when the people realize that it is their office . . . paid for by them and working for them and not solely for Blairmore.

Are We Unappreciative?

Hundreds of people sitting complacently while showmen perform their acts is the hardest thing entertainers have to contend with. It is the one black mark that can be marked up against the Coleman Rodeo. Coleman and Pass people seemed to be unappreciative to the show.

The Friday night show was noticeable for its lack of audience appreciation and Saturday's event not a great deal better.

Granted the cowboys and the special acts were here to make money but they were here as well to entertain us, and they did a good job. Yet feeble was the applause that followed a good ride, good timing, or a show that took hours of training and patience. It is these things that discourage entertainers from carrying on and results in the better performers giving up the ghost leaving only the slip shod and amateurs to fill our entertainment bill.

Most noticeable was the lack of appreciation for the efforts of Mrs. Pickard. Very few if any locally would stand astride two horses and jump over a car . . . none would attempt it after a partial miss that nearly resulted in an accident. A true showman, Pauline Pickard was not satisfied with a miff and went back again. The applause for her courage and entertainment was practically none existent.

It is hoped that at future functions Coleman will prove that it is not lacking in appreciation and will give the artists moral support by the old manner . . . a hearty handclap and if you desire a shrill "Vippee."

Radio Communication Network Established

Two way radio communications featuring the latest in frequency modulation equipment is being installed throughout the Eastern Rockies Conservation Board, workmen busy in the Pass area at the present time.

Under the supervision of A. Earnshaw, Edmonton, H. A. Traxler and G. A. Smith of Calgary, have been busy installing the approximate 80 units in this area. Mobile and portable units are being supplied to the local rangers; the new service speeding up communications and eliminating the hazards that face telephone service.

The main station for the entire area will be located at Calgary, with the main Crows Nest Pass station situated in the Forestry Dept. offices at Blairmore.

Weddings

PHILLIPS - WARD

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. N. E. Campbell, Halifax, N.S., when Ida Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ward, Chipman, N.B., became the bride of Edward Cyril Phillips, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Phillips, Coleman, Alta. The double-ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attired in a navy blue gabardine suit with white nylon accessories, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Roland McKnight, Sussex, who wore a mauve gabardine suit with yellow accessories and carried a nosegay of Sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. Roland McKnight was groomsmen.

Immediate relatives were present. The young couple will reside in Halifax where the groom is stationed with the Royal Canadian Navy and the bride is on the staff of T. Eaton Co., Ltd.

CHAMBERLAINE - PACKHAM

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized Saturday, June 28, at 3:00 p.m. in the Pincher Creek United Church when Muriel Phyllis, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Packham, became the bride of Mr. John Pugh Chamberlaine, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chamberlaine of Blairmore. The Rev. R. M. Moriarty officiated at the ceremony. The altar was banked with pink and white peonies, and Mr. W. G. Moffat played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor length gown of white nylon tulle over pale pink taffeta, featuring a bouffant skirt and leg-of-mutton sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place with a coronet trimmed with seed pearls. The bride's cascade bouquet was of deep pink roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Packham, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a gown of pink net over taffeta. Her headdress was a matching coronet, and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Karen Trullis was the dainty little flower girl, attired in a gown of pink organdy and net, and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Ken Ralston of Calgary attended the groom, and Mr. Lorne Packham and Mr. Norman Packham were ushers.

For the occasion the bride's mother chose a dress of rose crepe with white and navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The groom's mother wore aqua crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Masonic hall where a buffet lunch was served to about one hundred guests. The tables were beautifully decorated with pink and white peonies and candelabra. Mr. R. F. Duffield proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mrs. R. F. Duffield and Mrs. T. V. Hammond poured.

For travelling the bride donned a two-piece knitted suit with hat to match, a cream topcoat trimmed with brown and brown accessories. Her corsage was tallman roses.

The bride is a graduate of the Holy Cross hospital in Calgary, and the groom graduated in pharmacy from the University of Alberta this spring. After a honeymoon spent in Cour d'Alene, Idaho, and Spokane, Washington, they will reside in Camrose.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. E. Allen and Peter, of Coleman.

—Pincher Creek Echo.

Legion Picnic Will Be Held at Dutch Creek

J. R. Jones secretary of the Canadian Legion has announced the annual picnic will be held on August 3.

The picnic spot has been set at Dutch Creek. Transportation will be provided by a bus leaving the Club Rooms at 10:30 Sunday morning.

The usual fun packed day is assured all those attending. The committee in charge have worked hard to provide entertainment for young and old.

Construction of Service Station Underway

Construction of Texaco's new service station on the main highway through town began last week. The station, the only one to be located on the new highway at this time, will be under the management of J. F. Wilkie, of the Motordrome.

Measuring 50 by 30, the new structure will contain a front end, a grease bay and wash bay. Pouring of cement was underway last week, and other construction will follow as soon as permissible. No prospective opening date has been given.

Youthful Climbers Scale Seven Sisters

A party of five young people throughout the Pass successfully scaled one of the Seven Sisters Peaks adjacent to Crows Nest Mountain, on Sunday, June 6.

Leaving Coleman early Sunday morning, the party, consisting of Richard Pedesuk and Bob Hogan, Coleman, Alex Max, Bellevue, and Miss Monica Olds and Miss Marion Gosse, Blairmore, drove as far as the old lumber camp where they prepared breakfast. Shortly after 12:30 they started their climb, picking a peak that was neither the highest or the lowest. The Peak was reached around 3:25 after a steady climb. The descent consumed two hours time.

Miss Olds reported that the toughest part of the climb was at the start when the party were forced to contend with thick underbrush. The last portion was somewhat tedious again due to rugged formation and thick shale deposits.

From the top, Coleman was blocked out of view by Crows Nest Mountain while Blairmore was quite visible and Turtle Mountain appeared below them. A fine view of the new scenic Kananaskis highway was afforded the group from this vantage point.

All members of the party have previously climbed Turtle Mountain, while it was the second time up the Sister for Richard and Bob.

District Future Looks Bright

Future for the industry throughout the Pass looks bright according to the monthly summary conditions report as released by the Unemployment Insurance office as of June 30.

This report issued by Manager F. J. Lote, is comprehensive, a summary of which will be given here. Mr. Lote's report recorded a short time condition existing created by a C.P.R. rolling stock shortage and a sometime reduction of tonnage for shipment. This does not cut orders on hand, and make up of this lost tonnage will be required when cars are available.

All bush camps are in full operation and weather conditions favorable to expansion and full scale production. Continuous orders are being received for workers.

Drilling continues for gas and oil north of Coleman. It will be some weeks before the strata are reached which will indicate success or failure.

Construction work is at full swing on No. 3 highway with paving begun. This project is also providing employment for local men. Some reduction of staff in retail stores is evident due to the loss of time at the major industry, but this remains a temporary situation. A strong demand for auto mechanics and body men still exists.

Co-operation with schools is an active work with the commission and has assisted with applications and placements.

Rotary Ball Tourney

The Lethbridge Rotary Club's International Baseball Tournament scheduled for August 8th and 9th at the Exhibition Park will feature eight of the finest baseball clubs to be seen in Western Canada. Heading the list, of course, is the highly-rated Cubans from Florida and Havana. Several of the Cubans belong to Major League Clubs and their win and lost record this year is sensational, having won four major tournaments worth $5500 in prize money. Other top notch clubs entered in this mammoth classic are: The Indians from Worland, Wyoming, who were State Champions in 1947, 48, 49 and 50; the Great Falls Airlifters composed of members of the U.S. Airforce Base and Great Falls who before joining up, played pro and semi-pro ball; the Trail Smoke Eaters, 1951 B.C. Champions, who have strengthened their Club with imports from the U.S. Air Force Base at Spokane, Lethbridge and District will be represented in the Tourney by the All-Stars; the Indian Head Rockets, Canadian semi-pro finalists last year are entered along with the Hardwood Sports from Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Thrilling plays, excitement, tension & unparalleled baseball for Southern Alberta will be the highlight of the Rotary Club's $650-dollar baseball Tourney in Lethbridge August 8th and 9th. Kamsack found it necessary to drop out of the tournament. The replacement team will be announced in the Lethbridge Herald and over CJOJ early in the week.

CONSTANCE LAMBERT

Meet Constance Lambert, one of French Canada's leading singers, who is frequently heard in the broadcast series Galette Parisienne, (Sunday nights at 9 p.m. on CBK, 8 p.m. on CBX). She was born into a musical farm family in Northern Quebec, and ever since she was 14, her ambition has been to sing in opera. Towards this goal she has been studying in Montreal under well-known singers such as Anna Malfenfant and Antonio Tremblay Boulay. She made her concert debut in Ottawa. Last year she was one of the winners of the CBC's Nos Futures Etoiles talent contest, and since then she has been starred many times in French and English network programs.

He has recently returned to Winnipeg from a tour of the Prairie Region.

Foresters Have Varied Duties

Those travelling the new Kananaskis highway often wonder why a travel permit must be filed out and what is to be done with it. With this and other questions, the Journal visited the local forestry branch and received the following information.

Travel permits are made out by the traveller himself at the entrance to the road if he should be staying not more than three days. Should the party remain in the area longer than three days, the permit must be signed by the officials. Permits must be carried while in the area and placed in the special box when returning.

The main purpose of the permit is to give the department an idea as to where each party is making it easier for rangers to find them if necessary. The rangers are often called upon by relatives to find someone in the reserve, fishing or hunting.

This is only a small part of the work of the department, yet one that takes up a great deal of their time. The Rangers must administer timber permits as for indiscriminate cutting, insects and disease. They must keep a check on sickness among wildlife, construct ranger stations, build and maintain roads, cut hay for winter feed for the horses, build fire truck trails, install plumbing and electric systems at stations, build and maintain telephone lines, and supervise and examine areas prior to any building or location of industry. This forest reserve covers some 1,275 square miles and belongs to the people of Canada. The Forestry Department is here to protect it for you and are doing a good job, even if they have to be strict.

During the last 22 years this reserve stretching from Waterton to the Summit west of Hign River and to the B.C. Border has seen 191 fires... at least 100 of these right here in the Pass. These fires have destroyed over 135 square miles, the major fires being in 1934 and 36. Smokers and campers have caused 42% of these with lightning, lumber and brush burning and railways following in that order.

Of late another duty has been added to the forestry... grazing. Last year some 15,000 head of cattle and some sheep were grazing within the reserve. Each association provides a rider to watch over the herd, but the ranger is still responsible for the proper distribution and general welfare.

Supervising this major task is F. N. Lind with assistant O. K. Bradwell. Offices are maintained at Blairmore with Miss E. McDavid, steno, and N. Lambley, clerk. The area is broken down into six districts: Castle Mount, under F. A. Jones and assistants J. Elliott and A. Gibson. Crow Lodge district, A. Hereford, headquarters from Coleman. The Gap (Livingstone Dist.), W. Walton and assistant J. Richardson. West Porcupine, J. Morden. East Porcupine, W. Forbes-Kling. Willow Creek, M. Melster. Three Lookout men are stationed at Carbonade, Ironstone and the Livingstone Range.

Free Opportunities For Added Education

An opportunity for students to further their education along special lines without cost to themselves or their parents is offered by the National Employment Service.

Mr. F. J. Lote, manager of the Blairmore office of the service told the Journal last week of the remarkable opportunities of Schedule M and wished that it become better known throughout the Pass. In substance, the plan offers transportation, training and board and room to any student that has attained his or her Junior Matriculation. Courses are varied, ranging from diesel mechanics to nursing, and diplomats given following graduation. Graduates are fairly certain of attaining employment and will be assisted in this regard by the National Employment Service.

Should the candidates have been employed and entitled to insurance benefits, a portion of these will be used in the cost of the course. Should the student not have these benefits, he or she will receive the course and other assistance without cost.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN DIESELS

A new era of mountain railroading in Canada is being unfolded as modern streamlined Canadian Pacific Railway diesels, the first to go into service in the Rocky Mountains, replace steam locomotives, longtime conquerors of the steep slopes and rugged mountain wilderness. Pictured are two of 48 new diesel units which the C.P.R. has acquired since last fall to dieselize train operations in the Rockies and Alberta foothills between Revelstoke, B.C. and Calgary, Alta., as they pull a passenger train past towering peaks near Lake Louise. Passenger and freight trains on this run, one of the toughest in the world, are being given diesel power as part of the railway's five year dieselization program. An additional 18 road and switch engines will be delivered before this fall to completely dieselize the area.

"ARRANGER'S CHOICE"

Gino Silvy, right, sets the pace for his Toronto choral group which presents songs from the shows every Sunday at 8:30 p.m. on CBW, 7:30 p.m. on CBK, 6:30 p.m. on CBX, with soloists like Doreen Hulme & Margaret Stilwell. With him are five of the group: Left to right they are: Clare Kennedy, Babs Babineau, Ellie Van Evera, Ronnie Martin and Freda Wright. Half of Silvy's group are concert and operatic singers, and the others are strictly pops vocalists. The combination results in smooth, but vibrant singing such as you'd hear in the choruses of a Broadway show.

A Practical Service

IT IS FREQUENTLY SAID that the public associates the work of the United Nations mainly with the discussions which are carried on with the hope of settling international problems, while the practical and effective work which is carried on by the various organizations of the U.N., does not always receive the attention which it merits. One of the most active of these organizations, and one which is carrying on work in many different places, is the Food and Agriculture Organization. This body is concerned with the distribution of world food supplies, but it is also doing a great deal to encourage backward countries to increase production.

Teach Modern Farm Methods

Field teams of experts in agriculture are introducing farm machinery, principles of irrigation, soil conservation, insect control and many other matters known to modern farmers, in countries where as yet little progress has been made in this field. Through helping the people in these countries to improve their methods of farming and to increase production, the Food and Agriculture Organization hopes to raise the standard of living in backward countries and to increase the world food supply. A report on world social conditions made recently by the United Nations says in part "The low level of food production in the underdeveloped areas, and the wide disparities between food consumption in these areas and in more advanced countries, have long been recognized as constituting one of the outstanding problems of the world food and agriculture situation."

More Food Is Needed

In all the regions except North America, the report said, per capita food production is below the pre-war level. Even if the farmers on this continent and in other more favored places were able to produce sufficient food to meet all the requirements, economic barriers prevent it from being freely distributed. In helping the people of small and less favored countries to improve their crops and to farm more effectively, the Food and Agriculture Organization is performing a very practical and worthwhile service at this time.

Most homemakers and cooks in general consider cooking eggs about as simple as boiling water. That is probably why so many fried eggs have a sole that would do credit to a shoe repairer. Eggs respond to gentle treatment by being tender, and low or moderate temperatures should be the rule in cooking them.

It may seem "elementary my dear Watson" to discuss how to fry or soft-cook the breakfast eggs, but more people will enjoy them once they have eaten them properly prepared. Too often tough, rubbery whites are accepted as the way eggs should be.

Following are some hints to help you when cooking eggs.

Tender Fried Eggs

Don't drop the eggs into a sizzling hot fat. If the egg splutters and the white bubbles, the pan and fat are too hot and the result will be that leathery sole you've heard of before. The fat should be just hot enough to coagulate the egg white slowly. Keep the heat low or moderate under the pan. A heavy skillet will heat more evenly. Fat may be spooned over the egg yolk to film it with white or not as desired. This method may be used when bacon has been cooked first and there is sufficient fat in the pan to spoon over the yolks. If there is more than a thin layer of fat though, pour off the excess.

A second method of frying eggs sometimes called "fat-poaching" eliminates the necessity of standing over them while they cook. Melt only enough fat in the pan to lightly grease it. Break eggs into a saucer one at a time and slip gently from saucer into the pan. Add 1 to 3 teaspoons of hot water to the pan and cover tightly. Cook over low heat 4 to 5 minutes, or until eggs are cooked to the desired degree. The water turns to steam and the yolk will be covered with a white film similar to that produced by spooning with hot fat. If you peek too often the steam escapes so be sure to add a bit more water.

Tender Soft-Cooked Eggs

Don't boil eggs, cook them in water below the boiling point. One good method is to place the eggs in cold water to cover. Put a lid on the pan and bring the water slowly to the boiling point. Set off the heat and let stand 3 to 5 minutes depending upon whether the yolk is to be soft or partially set. For hard-cooked eggs let them stand 15 to 20 minutes then plunge into cold water. This helps prevent a dark ring forming around the yolks.

BUOYANT BATHING SUIT REDUCES DROWNING TOLL

MORECAMBE, Lancs, England.—Mark Shaw, 41, was determined to do something to reduce the toll of deaths by drowning. So he invented a bathing suit of special buoyancy, capable of floating a 200-pound man with ease.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holders stay more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (restores breath). FASTEREETH at any drug store.

Funny and Otherwise

The bigger the summer vacation, the harder the fall

Legally the husband is the head of the house and the pedestrian has the right of way. Both are fairly safe unless they try to exercise their rights.

A business man who owned a small sailing-boat invited a friend to go with him for a sail. A squall came up suddenly and the owner was pitched overboard. While he was struggling with the waves, his friend peered anxiously over the side of the boat and cried:

"I say, Simon, if you don't come up for the third time, may I have the boat?"

"That girl frankly confesses she's looking for a husband."

"So am I."

"I thought you had one."

"So I have, but I spend most of my time looking for him."

"Just look at old Phillips over there thoroughly enjoying himself! And I've always understood he was a woman-hater."

"So he is; but she's not with him tonight."

Said the fortune-teller, shaking her head: "I'm sorry to tell you that you'll be a widow soon. Your husband is going to die a violent death."

"Will I be acquitted?" asked her client eagerly.

The minister was asking one of his flock why he had not attended church lately. "Well, you see sir," said the man, "I'm troubled with a bunion on my foot."

"Strange," said the parson, "that a bunion should impede the pilgrim's progress."

Wife: Here, why 'ip out the back part of the book?"

Doctor: Sorry, I said Appendix, and I took it out without thinking.

"Dad, I've decided on my career," young George announced. "I'm going to be a detective. Already I'm practicing the art of deduction. Let me give you a demonstration. See that pile of ashes out there in the back yard. From that evidence, I deduce that we heat this house with coal!"

"Splendid! Splendid!" father enthused. "Now suppose you go out and sift the evidence!"

Brown quarrelled with his wife and walked out of the house. He did not return for twelve years, and when he did so, walked in quite calmly as though nothing unusual had happened.

"And where have you been?" his wife demanded, ominously.

"Out?" came the reply.

"Did your bees do well last summer?"

"Pretty well; they didn't give much honey, but they stung my mother-in-law twice."

A newly-married man found his wife in tears when he arrived home from business. "You know that cake I made from Mother's recipe?" she sobbed. "Well, I put it out to cool and the cat ate half of it."

"Never mind, darling," he comforted. "I know someone who will give us a kitten."

The cowbird lays her eggs in the nests of other birds, never building one herself.

Steers the "United States"

Margaret Truman smiles delightedly, as she takes the wheel of the United States, during its record-breaking maiden voyage. Canada's Population Increased By 421,000 In Year--14,430,000

OTTAWA.—Canada's population increased an estimated 421,000 in the year ended June 1, bringing the total to 14,430,000. If the rate of increase could be maintained—indications are that it won't be—Canada's population would hit the 15,000,000-mark by late 1953.

The estimate of the increase in population was made by the bureau of statistics. It took the population total of 14,009,426 recorded June 1, 1951, in the decennial census. It added births and immigration and subtracted deaths and an estimate of emigration.

The increase of 421,000 compared with a gain of 287,000 in the previous 12 months, of 265,000 between June 1, 1949, and June 1, 1950, and of 279,000 between June 1, 1948 and 1949. The 1949 figure did not include the 345,000 population gained by Newfoundland's entry into confederation.

The bureau said that the increase this year was due to a high level of births and to the arrival of 216,000 immigrants between June 1, 1951, and the corresponding date this year.

All provinces shared in the population increase. Largest increase was 168,000 for Ontario followed by 118,000 for Quebec, 33,000 for British Columbia, 31,000 for Alberta, 22,000 for Manitoba, 13,000 for Newfoundland and 11,000 Saskatchewan.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick each gained 10,000 and Prince Edward Island 5,000.

Manitoba Farmer Uncovers Old Indian Stone Pipe

GIMLI, Man. — An Indian stone pipe, found on the farm of Oli Narfason, near here during spring ploughing, is reported by the Winnipeg Museum to be a "Tulip type," commonly made by the Indians of Eastern Canada and usually found along the Manitoba-Ontario boundary.

Richard Sutton, museum curator, said it was a beautifully made pipe of stoneware, and was probably about 100 years old. It will be donated to the museum by Mr. Narfason.

4-Year-Old Child Dying Of Old Age

CHICAGO.—A 4-year-old girl, who weighs only 7½ pounds, is dying of old age at the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital.

The child is a victim of progeria, or premature senility. Doctors at the hospital said it is one of nature's rarest ailments. Both its cause and cure are unknown.

The child, named Linda, entered the hospital Jan. 28, 1948, when she was two months old. She has been there ever since. The hospital declined to make public the child's last name.

Strange Foot Print Found On Rock, 68 Feet Underground

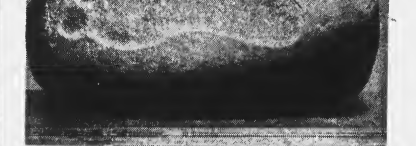

GRAVELBOURG, Sask. — We've heard of finger prints, foot prints in the snow or in the mud, and photographic prints, even rayon dress prints. But how about petrified foot prints? So help us it's a fact. It has been called to our attention recently that a farmer, Curtis McCamack, southwest of Gravelbourg, found on his farm while digging a well at a depth of 68 feet, a rock of about 50 pounds which has impressed on it a well defined foot print.

This well, so we are told, was dug in and about the year 1910, but the rock upon which the foot print is outlined was not noticed until recently when the farmer on his way home after a rain, saw the foot mark on the rock near the well. His comment to himself at the moment was: "Looks like someone has been snooping around here just recently." Then after he had passed it, his curiosity got the better of him and made him turn back and investigate. To his surprise, he discovered that the foot print was far from being a fresh one as he had anticipated, but on the contrary was one well impressed in a granite type rock, and which the light effect plus the reflection of the rain drops made stand out. It isn't sure yet, but it is anticipated that this rock and its print may be thousands of years old.

Many have seen this rock and were both awed and amazed at the weird but well defined print in it. The foot that made the imprint was never, according to the measurements of the ball of the foot print, restrained or held in or tamed by that invention of civilization, "A shoe" which is oft a blessing to modern man, as well as a curse on somebody's lips if it injures or causes blisters or corns on the foot.

However, now it is generally believed that the print was carved in the rock by Indians and it may have some religious significance. The granite rock with the print weighed 50 pounds.

MYSTERY ROCK—This rock with the imprint of a human foot was discovered in a well on the farm of Curtis McCamack, southwest of Gravelbourg. How the footprint got there is anybody's guess, but it is generally believed that the print was carved in the rock by Indians and it may have some religious significance. The granite rock with the print weighed 50 pounds.

"HE SHOULD GO AWAY"

Not Necessary To Be "Skunked Up" By Skunk

The Government Travel Bureau, always on the alert to make a tourist's visit to Canada a pleasant one, turned its attention recently to unpleasant possibilities. It issued a bulletin, "Helpful Hints for Skunk Victims". The Bureau, which said Canada was enjoying a travel year "which so far has been little short of terrific," admitted that a white-striped animal might decide to pay a visit to a cottager's or camper's lodgings. But the Bureau said:

"If you play it smart, you might not have to bury your clothes."

The main rule to follow in dealing with a visit from a skunk is, "Don't startle your visitor with loud noises or sudden actions," the Travel Bureau said.

In most cases, the Bureau added, when a skunk ambles up to a cottage or tent, he is hungry.

"If he gets inside, go outside," the Bureau advised tourists. "And leave the door open."

"Presumably, the animal then will follow you out. The trick then is to get back inside—but be careful not to make any of those dangerous 'loud noises or sudden actions'—and close the door . . . gently."

What to do if the animal doesn't go away.

Well, said the Bureau, the skunk is probably looking for food. So feed it.

"Put some milk, bread, fat, fish, or jam outside for him," the bureau advised, and added (hopefully, it seemed): "after he eats it, he should go away."

If the worst does happen—"if you do get skunked up," was the way the bureau worded it—it may not be necessary to burn down the cottage or tent. You don't have to burn your clothes, or bury them. And the best way to get rid of the smell on your body is not to dive into the nearest lake or river.

Warm water and soap is the best treatment for the body. Rinse with vinegar, tomato juice, or some other acid juice. That will counteract the "skunked up" atmosphere which otherwise will stick closer to you than your shadow.

As for your clothes, build a bonfire outside. But it isn't necessary to burn your clothes. Just spread them on brush piled around the fire. The flames and the woodsmoke will counteract the smell.

For your cabin, build a brisk fire in the grate, or open stove—even if the temperature is well up in the 80's or 90's. Again, the flame will act as a deodorizer.

In a tent, a fire in a small stove should do the trick. But keep the flame covered, or you'll be in danger of setting a fire worse in its way than the effects of the skunk.

Above all, keep up hope, for as the bureau said:

"He should go away."
